Joys and Concerns

Today's program will involve some sharing in small groups. After some brief introductory remarks, we will break into groups of four and take turns telling each other something we have done in our lives that we are proud of. It can be something big or something small. Here are some examples to get you thinking: got a promotion, helped a friend, wrote a book, lost 15 pounds, did volunteer work, etc. It would be great if you are able to share something... but just listening is also okay.
